Advertising Is Good Business

And Is Especially Necessary in Times of Depression

It is a comforting fact to the advertiser at home or on as high a plane as in any country in the world that the manufacturers and merchants do not seem to have developed the art of showing the real value of the goods they are selling. They are British traders are inclined, when they are in a position to cut costs by cutting down advertising, a procedure which has been proved time and again, to be against all the principles of good business. As a result, the advertiser's efforts are lost, and the advertiser's efforts are lost.

The Changing Times

Moore Factory, Once An Outpost, Is To Be Railway Terminal

Only a few years ago the American locomotives got blown up in Moore Factory, and the whole world was in a state of confusion. As a matter of fact they had, Moore Factory then contained nothing but machinery and tools. They output, a few Indians and for trippers.

Now we read that steel of the T. & N. O. Railway will be carried to the west coast, and that the place is to be a railway terminus and a port, that it is to have a modern station and a large hotel.

The world certainly does move, and no part of it moves faster than the western world. In fact, the world's recent years have unveiled. It seems as though the world is moving.
